

To whom it may concern:

I am very concerned with the lift of the ban on "cross-ownership". The top 2 tiers already run way to many of the broadcasting stations, newspapers, production companies, etc... I feel it is very important from stopping this from happening. The first reason is that public thought is already negligible in the major media. Secondly, I feel it creates a monopoly in the "media system". Obviously, that can't be good, because the purpose of capitalism is to compete, and that would be pretty tough with Viacom running every damn station. Tell R. Murdoch I said hi and thanks for promoting the terror war. Wait I am sorry, the war on terror.
